OUR FUTURE

The world is changing. The pace of change – economic, technological and sociological – has never been faster than it is today. The world's population is increasing rapidly, and new technologies are disrupting industries, societies and power structures. The exhibition and conference industry is playing an indispensable role within this paradigm shift by accelerating the networks, technology and innovation necessary to master the challenges of the future.

Economic power is shifting from west to east, and South East Asia is becoming a growth driver of the global economy. The region's immense sales, sourcing and investment opportunities are attracting international attention. As a result, the exhibition and conference industry in South East Asia is growing with one of highest regional growth rates worldwide.

International exhibition organizers are entering South East Asia seeking Win-Win Joint Ventures with well-connected and strong infrastructure partners. The future will see new platforms for new industries through new partnerships in this rising region.

VNU Asia Pacific is perfectly positioned to drive this change.
